Footpath vendors back in business on streets

MCC Officers say helpless due to 'Political Interference'

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (RK&BCT)- The bustling Sayyaji Rao Road and its surrounding areas in the heart of the city appeared noticeably empty last fortnight following an extensive operation conducted by the officials of the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) and the local Police on July 19.

Street vendors on the footpaths were instructed to cease their business activities, as their setups were obstructing the flow of traffic. However, in just a few days, many of these vendors have returned to resume their operations.

According to Mayor Shivakumar and a few MCC officers, the resurgence of these vendors can be attributed to political intervention.

Speaking on condition of anonymity, some officers revealed that certain political leaders are forcing them to refrain from clearing the footpath encroachments. "Our hands are tied and even the vendors are openly defying the orders," stated one Officer.

Both the MCC and the Police authorities have confirmed that the street vendors had encroached not only the footpaths, but also the sides of the roads.

"The footpaths are designated for pedestrians, while the streets are already congested with traffic, exacerbating the situation for pedestrians," explained an Officer.

"Political considerations and social dynamics are undeniably influencing decisions regarding eviction here, with vendors enjoying political support," the Officer further noted.

New trend on Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway

Vehicles take diversions to bypass toll plazas

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (BLU&BS)- As the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has implemented full-fledged toll collection on the Access Controlled Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway, certain drivers have discovered convenient and alternative routes to evade paying the toll.

It has been three months since toll collection commenced on the Expressway and three toll plazas have been established at Gananguru in Srirangapatna taluk, Sheshagirihalli near Ramanagara and Kaniminike near Bidadi.

Despite this, the Expressway remains embroiled in disputes as some organisations protest against the toll tariff hikes, which have occurred twice, burdening road users financially.

Presently, the tariff entails a toll of Rs. 485 for cars on the same-day return journey and Rs. 630 after 24 hours, causing significant financial strain. To bypass toll payment, drivers travelling from Mysuru to Bengaluru veer off-course before Gananguru, rejoining the Expressway via the service road near Thoobinakere.

A similar strategy is adopted to avoid the toll at Kanaminike, involving a deviation left towards the service road near Satya Apartment.

For approximately 10 km, they traverse with ease before reconnecting with the main road to access Bengaluru city prior to the NICE Road junction. Convenient openings near Srirangapatna, Mandya, Maddur, Channapatna, Maddur, Channapatna and Ramanagara facilitate entry and exit from the service road parallel to the Expressway, proving advantageous for vehicle users.

It is reported that travellers adopt a comparable approach when journeying from Bengaluru to Mysuru. However, those financially capable of paying the toll prefer to remain on the main thoroughfare of the Expressway, eschewing any potential risks.

During a recent inspection of the Expressway, ADGP (Traffic and Road Safety) Alok Kumar observed that drivers resort to shortcuts to evade the steep toll charges. Such actions might cease if toll charges were reduced.

Furthermore, the Expressway, constructed at a considerable cost, still exhibits certain shortcomings that require rectification.

Notably, numerous black spots persist, compounded by the growing traffic volume between Mysuru and the Thoobinakere junction in Mandya district, as well as the stretch between Kaniminike and the NICE Road junction in Bengaluru. These concerns were highlighted by the ADGP during his assessment.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Organ transplantation is the last resort for patients suffering from end-stage organ failure.

Though a lot of work has been done, much ground still needs to be covered. It is important to encourage Brain Stem Death declarations in our hospitals, independent of donations. It is equally necessary to report on the transplant outcomes to ensure quality. Work around streamlining the training and utilisation of transplant counsellors is underway. The creation of a transplant manual for easy reference is also currently underway. We also need to take steps to increase the utilisation of organs from deceased donors and avoid the wastage of any donated organs due to poor donor maintenance, delays in organ harvesting, communication gaps between clinical teams, etc. Encouraging swap transplants and improving procedures around them is important. Most importantly, showing our gratitude to the donors and their families is crucial.

As we march towards a developed India, we soon hope to see India's organ transplant programme be among the best in the world. We owe it to the donor (whether living or deceased) to do our best to bring about positive changes. A living donor gives a part of his/her body, fully knowing the risk to his/her life, to save a loved one, and the family of a deceased donor, in their time of grief, takes the bold decision to donate the organs of their loved one to someone they do not even know. There can be no bigger donation than this.

Organ Donation Day was celebrated on August 3 this year. Let us pledge not just our organs but to follow both the letter and spirit of the Organ Transplant Act so that we stop seeing cases of trafficking of human organs. It is not just our legal responsibility but also our moral and ethical responsibility to do so. For it is, in nothing do men more nearly approach the Gods than in giving health to men.

Man uses forehead to smash walnuts

New Delhi: A martial artist recaptured a Guinness World Record (GWR) from his long-time rival by smashing 273 walnuts with his forehead in 1 minute.

Naveen Kumar, 27, used his forehead to smash the raw common walnuts, breaking the record of 254, set by serial record-breaker Muhammad Rashid in 2017.

Rashid first held the record with 150 walnuts in 2014, and broke his own record with 181 in 2016. Kumar broke the record in 2017 by cracking 217 walnuts. The two men went head-to-head in a GWR challenge on an Italian TV special later that same year, with Kumar breaking 239 walnuts and Rashid taking the record back with 254.

Rashid said he trained with Prabhakar Reddy, a serial world record-breaker with several of his own GWR titles in martial arts categories.

Silkworm sashimi, cricket curry on menu

Tokyo: Bugs have made a comback on the menu in Japan. On a recent vacation a tourist opted for a special lunch of cricket curry and silkworm sashimi, washed down with a water bug cider.

The 26-year-old tourist, from the western prefecture of Hyogo, is one of scores of consumers across the world who have taken an interest in entomophagy, or eating insects, as bugs slowly become a more viable food source.

"Everything was tasty. In particular, the water bug cider was quite refreshing and delicious, like a green apple," the tourist said.

Entomophagy started to be taken seriously globally after the United Nations deemed bugs a sustainable source of protein to feed a global population estimated to swell to 9.7 billion by 2050.

Shrill horns disturb public peace near student hostels

Sir,

For a significant period, the residents in and around Alanahalli, adjacent to Mysuru-T. Narasipur Road, have been enduring the nuisance of shrill horns, which is causing considerable trouble for them throughout the day, except for a few quiet hours during midnight.

These highly irritating shrill horns were banned almost a decade ago, yet they persist, making life miserable for the people in the area, especially those living on either side of T. Narasipur Road, students of Sri Nirvanaswamy Samyukta (SNS) Vidyasamsthe and inmates of Sri Shivarathri Rajendra Seva Trust Hostel.

The constant flow of heavy traffic on this Highway includes numerous private buses, goods carriers and autorickshaws, all equipped with these vibrating and blaring shrill horns. The irresponsible speeding drivers show no regard for the residents and honk recklessly with high-decibel noises, using various vibrating and echoing sounds, causing mental and psychological distress for the people living in this locality.

The continuous noise, surpassing 84 decibels, poses a serious risk to the ears of children and the elderly. This stretch of road is home to many schools, hostels, hospitals and paying guests, who are perennially suffering due to this ugly menace of shrill horns, turning their lives into a nightmare day and night.

Early mornings and late nights are even more painful as the incessant honking becomes more pronounced in the silence of these inactive hours. Some drivers have installed multiple trumpeting horns to continuously honk in an echoing manner, producing different sounds for several seconds at a stretch.

We earnestly request the concerned authorities, such as the Police, Road Transport Department, noise pollution authorities, etc., to take immediate action as follows. Implementing these actions will undoubtedly improve the lives of people in and around Alanahalli, bringing some relief to their daily struggles and concerns.

Immediately ban the usage of these shrill horns and penalise all those who use these banned and irritating honking horns with heavy fines.

Install barricades between Alanahalli Lake, where the SNS school children cross the Highway, and the park near the Alanahalli Bus Stand, to facilitate safe road crossing for school children and the public.

Install 'No Horn' signboards near the SNS Vidyasamsthe and Sri Shivarathri Rajendra Seve Trust Hostel to discourage unnecessary honking.

Paint zebra crossings at the main entrance of the school to aid school children and their parents in safely crossing the road to reach the school.

National Organ Donation Day

Apollo BGS Hospitals creates awareness on organ donation

Family members of organ donors were felicitated during Organ Donation Day at Apollo BGS Hospitals in city.

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (KS)- As part of National Organ Donation Day, Apollo BGS Hospitals, Mysuru, conducted organ donation drive at Rani Bahadur Auditorium at Manasagangothri campus in city recently. Awareness on the importance of organ donation was also created among the gathering on the occasion.

Reverend Hemachandra Kumar, Paediatrician and Medical Director of Al Ansaar Hospital, Sera Mey Head Abott Geshe Tashi Tsering and Rotary Mysore President Rtn. Arun R. Belawadi. The guests spoke about the importance of organ donation and stressed the importance of a healthy life. They also spoke in length about the beliefs surrounding organ donation and broke the myths surrounding the same.

"For many in the end-stage organ diseases, organ transplantation is the most preferred treatment. The need for organ transplantation is higher than the availability. Hence, Apollo BGS Hospitals, Mysuru, has come forward to create awareness regarding organ donation," said Dr. V. Yashavanth Kumar, Consultant Hepato Biliary & Liver Transplant Surgeon, Apollo BGS Hospitals, Mysuru.

"Right now, more than 1,00,000 people in India need a multiorgan transplant and every year, around 1,000 people die waiting to find an organ donor. The need for donors has never been greater. Organ transplantation is one of the most miraculous achievements of modern Medical Science. But, it depends entirely on the generosity of donors and their families who are willing to make this life-saving gift to others" said Dr. Rajkumar P. Wadhwa, Chief Gastroenterologist & Head of Institute of Gastroenterology, Apollo BGS Hospitals, Mysuru.

"Thousands of people die every year with end stage organ failure. The only way they can have a new lease of life is by having an organ transplant. One donor can give life to a minimum of 8 people. There is a critical shortage of organs and the gap between the number of organs donated and the number of patients waiting for a transplant is increasing," said Dr. Srinivas Nalloor, Chief Nephrologist and Head, Department of Nephrology, Apollo BGS Hospitals, Mysuru.

Delay in fixing water meter issue

Woman protests in front of MCC Commissioner's car

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (SBD&BS)- Irked over the nonchalant attitude of Vani Vilas Water Works (VVWW) Officers in looking into her prolonged grievance, a woman has taken the Officers to task and the video of which has gone viral on social media.

According to the video, the woman who is currently residing in Bengaluru has a house in Mysuru, but her request to VVWW look into the faulty water meter has fell on deaf ears. Even after running from pillar to post along with her son, the issue remains to be addressed. Fed up, the woman staged a protest by squatting in front of the car of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner, parked near the Office of Executive Engineer of VVWW.

The woman has been receiving excessive water bill due to the faulty meter and had brought this to the notice of Officers in October 2022. As the Officers sat on her request, she submitted a memorandum in February this year. She has even promptly paid the water bill till date. In the meantime, she came from Bengaluru four to five times only to meet the Officers with the same request.

However, the Officers passed the buck on others directing her to meet one or the other Officer. When all her efforts went in vain, the woman lost her patience and staged a flash protest, warning not to allow the vehicle to move until and unless her demand is met, as heard in the video.

"Don't know whether you have paid the salary to your Officers since last six months, but I have paid the water bill for the last six months. It is said that 'Government Work is God's Work', but which God will like if the people are forced to run like this. Even after paying the bill, if our grievance is not addressed, what does this mean? I have spent thousands of rupees on travelling from Bengaluru to Mysuru four to five times. If one Officer is available, another won't be available," the woman has said expressing her resentment.

When the Officers tried to convince her by attributing it to discrepancy in meter reading and action is being taken in compliance with the rules, it didn't cut ice with the latter. The woman lost her cool and asked the Officers "Does it take six months to fix the fault in water meter."

The Officers clarified again to the relief of woman that "The meter will be recalibrated and the excess water bill paid till date will be reimbursed along with rate of interest. The issue will be addressed at the earliest."

The afore mentioned video holds mirror to the fact that all is not well in MCC, even after the recent heated discussion in MCC Council meeting about the same issue of excess water bills received due to fault in meters. Some of the Corporators had even vented their anguish by holding the water bills at the meeting and demanded the Mayor to address the lacunae.

It seems the Officers believe that such chaos and pandemonium are obvious, but have to wake up at least now and respond to the woes of the people in time.

Increase in wheelie, over-speeding and robbery cases at Yadavagiri

Residents urge Cops to initiate action

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (MK&KS)- Menace of youths performing wheelie, over-speeding of vehicles and robbery cases are increasing in Yadavagiri, one of the posh localities of city, causing concerns among the residents, who have urged the Police to initiate necessary action.

These issues came to the fore at the grievances meeting of residents which was organised by Yadavagiri Residents Association at Gujarati Samaja Bhavan here yesterday evening.

At the meeting, residents complained of increasing robbery cases in the locality and mentioned that the thieves even steal iron materials kept in front of houses. The residents also highlighted the menace of youths performing wheelie on empty roads, making loud noise by altering the silencer pipes of two-wheelers and over-speeding during night times. The residents demanded the Police to take action to put brakes to the menace.

Reacting to the residents, V.V. Puram Sub-Inspector K.K. Mohan said that the residents will be given protection and added that many robbery cases have been detected and night beat Police will be deployed. The Sub-Inspector asked the residents to dial Emergency Response Support System (ERSS) number 122 if they face any problems from strangers.

V.V. Puram Traffic Sub-Inspector Goutham, who also spoke, said that a survey has been conducted to install barricades, speed breakers and CAT EYE and the report has been sent to the higher officers. The Sub-Inspector said that once they receive instructions from their higher ups, they would take steps to install barricades, road humps and also conduct checking of vehicles to initiate legal action against those over-speeding and performing wheelie.

Give importance to cleanliness: The residents have also urged the MCC officials to give priority to cleanliness to which MCC Environmental Engineer Sridevi assured that any problem pertaining to cleanliness will be solved immediately and also collected information about the spots where there are problems.

Corporator Ravindra, Yadavagiri Residents Association Convenor S.K. Dinesh, MCC officials Yoganand, Harish and others were present.

World growing under the shadow of Hiroshima bombing horror

Retired scientists, journalists air opinions at ICHNF's talk on Hiroshima bombings

Renowned journalist Krishna Prasad and others seen during the discussion 'Hiroshima Day: Its significance today to the world' at Heritage House in Saraswathipuram last evening. Picture right shows a section of the audience attending the discussion.

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (DM&BCT)- The sombre tragedy of the Hiroshima bombing in Japan during World War II took the centre stage in a discussion 'Hiroshima Day: Its significance today to the world.'

The event was organised by Indian Cities Heritage Network Foundation (ICHNF), in association with Digital Empowering Foundation at Heritage House in Saraswathipuram last evening.

Renowned journalist Krishna Prasad spoke about the important role played by the journalists during such a crucial period to show light on the horrific situation in Japan and tell the world about the monstrous effect of the atomic bombs on the human kind.

He spoke on the topic 'How journalists unveiled the Hiroshima bomb attack' and elaborated on how journalists like Leslie Nakashima, Wilfred Graham Burchett, George Anthony Weller and John Hersey played a pivotal role in bringing to light the horrifying nature of the bombing.

Krishna Prasad highlighted how these journalists meticulously delved into the context of the bomb attack, its devastating consequences and the loss of lives. He emphasised that the ongoing discussion on the tragic Hiroshima bombing owes much to the reports of these journalists, who risked their lives to cover the harrowing wartime events.

The haunting effects of the bombing, along with the dedication of these journalists, continue to fuel the discourse surrounding this catastrophic event, he added.

Need for de-nuclearisation

Ravi Joshi, retired distinguished officer of RAW (Research and Analysis Wing), spoke about how the atomic bomb was tested before they had dropped it in Hiroshima almost a month before in the Nevada Desert, and then he spoke about the Pokhran test which gave India the nuclear edge in the world.

Speaking on the topic 'The Effects - Peace, Conflict and Solutions', Ravi Joshi highlighted that the nuclear bomb spurred advancements in science and technology in India, and underscored that the devastating bombing, which claimed thousands of lives, sent a resounding message to the world about the paramount importance of peace.

He also spoke about the current global atomic architecture, telling how the entire thing is changing in the present, leading to the number of bombs decreasing to around 12,000 from around 55,000 nuclear heads during the cold war period marking the reduction in nuke heads, telling that somewhat optimistic approach of strong nations towards de-nuclearisation.

Stories of the victims

Dr. Mohan Raj, retired journalism coach (from Hyderabad's Osmania University Department of Journalism and Education) and mentor, who facilitated the event, and Karuna Venkatesh, a special educator, narrated a few true stories of the victims which were documented by the Pulitzer Award-winning journalist John Hersey, which spoke about why the world should try and de-nuclearise itself to avoid one more such man-made catastrophe.

The event also featured screenings of BBC documentaries titled 'Hiroshima: Dropping the Bomb' and 'Remembering the Tragic Aftermath of Hiroshima Bomb.'

Along with many notable and retired scientists residing in the city, the Chairperson of IHCNF Rajen Varada was also present during the panel discussion.

The programme was additionally supported by IHCNF Coordinator R. Vishwanath and All India Radio (AIR) Mysuru Programme Associate Nischitha Krishnaswamy.

Accident rate plummets on Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (BS)- As a result of the stringent measures implemented by the Police on Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway, the incidence of accidents has significantly decreased, providing a sense of relief to the law enforcement agency.

Previously, after the Expressway was opened for traffic in March, accidents, both fatal and non-fatal, had become commonplace. However, following the introduction of robust initiatives such as the trial run of Artificial Intelligence (AI)-based cameras to capture instances of over-speeding, the deployment of five speed radar guns and the addition of ten Police Patrolling vehicles, the occurrence of accidents has considerably diminished.

This improvement is a direct outcome of the recommendations from the Road Safety Committee. Acting upon these recommendations, two patrolling vehicles now continuously patrol each of the two Expressway divisions.

In May, a total of 29 fatalities were recorded due to accidents on the Expressway and this number decreased slightly to 28 in June. Notably, the rate of accidents witnessed a gradual decline in July, with the death toll decreasing to eight.

Among these fatalities, three occurred within the jurisdiction of Ramanagara District Police, while five took place within Mandya District Police limits. Since the Expressway's inception, over 100 lives have been lost in various accidents.

In response to fervent calls for rigorous action to curb the accident rate, ADGP (Traffic and Road Safety) Alok Kumar conducted a series of inspections on multiple occasions. Primarily, it was determined that over-speeding was a primary factor contributing to accidents, with vehicles often travelling at speeds ranging from 100 to 120 km/h.

Consequently, Police presence was enhanced at critical junctions to levy on-the-spot fines on vehicles exceeding speed limits. These interventions have been instrumental in curbing the incidence of accidents, as per the Police assessment.

The Gujarat High Court had dismissed Gandhi's plea against conviction and observed that "purity in politics" was the need of the hour. Following this, Rahul Gandhi had approached the Supreme Court for staying his conviction in the case.

First phase of Mission Indradhanush begins

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (MTY&BCT)- The Intensified Mission Indradhanush (IMI) 5.0 of immunising children and pregnant women against vaccine-preventable diseases began in the city this morning.

The programme aims to immunise children up to the age of five against life-threatening diseases, said officials. District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa inaugurated the programme at the District Hospital on KRS Road.

The IMI 5.0 is a big leap towards the elimination of vaccine-preventable diseases like measles and rubella and improving routine immunisation.

The programme will be conducted in three phases between Aug. 7 and Oct. 14. The first phase would be from Aug. 7 to 12, the second phase would be between Sept. 11 and 16 and the doses in the third phase would be given from Oct. 9 to 14. The camps will be held from 9 am to 5 pm, said Deputy Commissioner Dr. K.V. Rajendra.

In Mysuru, the Mission Indradhanush will be implemented on the lines of Pulse Polio Immunisation. "The health workers and ASHA workers have identified 5,075 children from 0 to 2 years and 432 children from 2 to 5 years and the immunisation will be given at 9oo centres," he added.

Those who skipped the vaccination earlier should come forward now and get themselves vaccinated without fail. Symptoms such as fever and spotty rashes on the face and behind the ears are generally witnessed in patients suffering from measles and rubella. A special U-Win App has been developed on the lines of CoWIN App for data collection and reporting.

"We have conducted the training of all healthcare staff for the immunisation programme. The list of expected beneficiaries has been prepared. Based on the list the micro-planning at ward level has been done," said District Health Officer Dr. P.C. Kumaraswamy.

The Department aims to immunise children and pregnant women in the first round, hailing from unserved, low coverage pockets in urban areas, hard to reach areas, villages that have missed routine immunisation due to the COVID-19 pandemic, high-risk areas, etc.

These include those living in areas such as urban slums with migration, brick kilns, construction sites, forest dwellers, hilly areas, vaccine-preventable disease outbreak areas, vaccine hesitancy or refusal areas, peri-urban or border areas, mohallas, etc., officers added.

Minister chairs meeting of officers

District Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa chairing a meeting of District Officers of various Departments of Mysuru at Jaladarshini in the city this morning as Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) Commissioner G.T. Dinesh Kumar, City Police Commissioner B. Ramesh, Deputy Commissioner Dr. K.V. Rajendra, MLAs Tanveer Sait and G. T. Devegowda, MLC Dr. D. Thimmaiah and Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Commissioner Ashaad-Ur-Rahman Shariff look on.

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (BLU&BS)- Minister for Social Welfare and Mysuru District In-charge Dr. H. C. Mahadevappa has said that "Gajapayana (the journey of first batch of Dasara elephants to Mysuru) is scheduled to be held on Sept. 1 from Veeranahosahalli in Nagarahole Forest."

Minister Mahadevappa spoke to media persons on the sidelines of the meeting with District Officers of various Departments of Mysuru at Jaladarshini on Hunsur road in city this morning.

"The first batch of elephants will be coming to Mysuru 45 days before the start of Navarathri festivities (in October). The elephants will be selected based on their fitness level," added Minister Mahadevappa.

Answering to a question on any special funds sought to celebrate Dasara festival on a grand scale, Mahadevappa said "The Chief Minister has assured to provide funds for the festival. Neither we have sought any special funds nor the Government has given any commitment in this regard."

To the speculations over his son Sunil Bose lobbying for ticket to contest the next parliamentary elections from Chamarajanagar (SC reserve) Constituency, Mahadevappa said "He (Bose) has been deprived of ticket in the last three Assembly elections, but still he has worked for the party. However, the final decision in this regard, rests with the high command."

To a query on former Varuna MLA Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah's name also doing rounds, for Mysuru-Kodagu Lok Sabha seat, Mahadevappa blamed it on media for creating such news, with none in authority speaking about it in public.

Mahadevappa also found no fault in disgruntled BJP MLC A.H. Vishwanath reportedly seeking ticket for Mysuru-Kodagu LS seat, being a senior leader.

However, on the claims of Vishwanath lobbying for ticket from Congress, despite being in BJP, Mahadevappa said 'Such technical matters will be discussed at an appropriate time.'

Mahadevappa also turned down the Opposition party BJP's allegations of diverting Scheduled Castes Sub Plan (SCP) and Tribal Sub Plan (TSP) funds to other schemes, as baseless.

Footpath vendors back in business

Although the Central Business District streets were successfully cleared from July 19, the vendors quickly returned to continue their operations.

"Some vendors had erected small shelters, which violates regulations. While we recognise the need to provide them with space to conduct their businesses, we cannot allow them to overcrowd the area and impede people's movements," the Officer emphasised.

Acting on the Mayor's directives, teams from MCC's Abhaya, MCC Zonal Officers and engineers initiated the eviction drive on Sayyaji Rao Road near Makkaji Chowk in July. Over the years, these vendors had occupied the footpaths in this area, depriving pedestrians of their rightful space and forcing them to navigate through cramped paths between shops and street vendors or even venture onto the busy road itself.

The eviction drive was prompted by complaints received by the Mayor regarding footpath encroachments by vendors near Mysore Palace and Sayyaji Rao Road (Raja Marga). The Mayor's inspection covered footpath areas from K.R. Circle to Government Ayurveda College Circle, Makkaji Chowk and the Palace.

Meanwhile, the vendors have expressed that such drives would yield results only if they are ensured of livelihood opportunities within designated vending zones. Typically, after these drives, unauthorised vendors temporarily disappear, only to gradually return over time.

"This situation is unacceptable and the street vendors are enduring substantial losses over the past two weeks. I have been selling clothes here for the last 15 years, and now I've been suddenly evicted. Officials suggested tp open a shop to avoid this, but where am I supposed to get the funds?" questioned one vendor.

Shopkeepers in the vicinity have also raised concerns that the issue of illegal hawking becomes particularly prominent in the evenings when unauthorised vendors expand their setups, virtually taking over the footpaths.

Additionally, unregulated two-wheeler parking has compounded the problem around the bustling Devaraja Market area.

Science is taught better in mother tongue: Former ISRO Scientist

Mysuru, Aug.7 (CN&TRR) Former ISRO Scientist Prof.V. Jagannath has opined that Governments must make sincere efforts to ensure Science is taught in mother tongue.

Prof, Jagannath was speaking after inaugurating a function organised to mark the release of a Kannada book 'Vishva Mattu Adarache' authored by Yamuna Suryanarayana. at BM Sri auditorium, Kuvempu Institute of Kannada Studies (KIKS), University of Mysore, Mansagangothri in the city, yesterday.

"Foreign countries have progressed because of Science and that too because Science was taught in their mother tongue, which enabled to reach their children. Foreigners achieved greater heights in technology by introducing Science in their mother tongue. In our country also, Governments must make sincere efforts to ensure that Science is taught in our respective mother tongue," adviced the retired Scientist.

Observing that Science is a specific knowledge, Prof. Jaganath said that foreign countries could achieve so much because Scientists of those countries have learnt the subject in their mother tongue.

"We also need to imbibe this trait and end slavery. Just encourage children to explore and they will return you the gift of their achievement. Increased experience begets scholarly knowledge and we need to increase our skills in this direction and move forward. Formal Education System is only a door to gain entry. We need to move forward and shape our future," concluded retired ISRO Scientist Prof.V.Jagannath.

Gravity Foundation Founder A.S.Abhishek said that those who communicate Science in their mother tongue are regarded as very intelligent.

"Science is not a hard nut to crack and it should be learnt amidst nature. If you study within four walls you will get knowledge and if you mingle among people it is general knowledge. .Parents should encourage children to read Kannada books. It is enough if parents can inspire confidence in children. Don't fear failure. Failure is the stepping stone of success," added A.S.Abhishek.

Educational Assistant of Dharwad Regional Science Centre Chandrakant Chandur who also spoke complimented Yamuna Suryanarayana for writing a Science book in Kannada and pointed out that most of the Science books are in English. Her book on Astonomy must be made available to rural students and at all Government schools, public libraries and digital libraries, opined Chandrakant.

Solar Energy Invention Scientist R.J.Nagaraj said that "The writing of this book is one of many adventures of Yamuna Suryanarayana."

She (Yamuna) has explored Science which is normally an unknown territory for housewives and written a book about Science and thereby has become a model for others who want to achieve something in life, he added.

Cash Prizes and Certificates were distributed to children who had won in a Painting competition organized earlier.

Prof. Shyam Sundar of NIE College, organiser Mahesh,Tare Zameen Par organsation's Satish, Sudha and others were present at the function.

Failing to achieve IAS dream, Bank Manager ends life

Shruthi

Mandya, Aug. 7 - Unable to achieve her aim of becoming an IAS Officer, a 30-year-old woman, working as a Manager at Kaveri Grameena Bank (now Karnataka Gramin Bank) Regional Office in Mandya, committed suicide by hanging self at her rented house in Mandya.

The deceased is Shruthi, daughter of Mallappa of Kollegal.

Shruthi, who had served in the Bank at Chikkamagalur branch since seven years was serving at the Regional Office in Mandya since two months and was residing alone at the rented house in Vinayaka Layout, Mandya.

It is learnt that, depressed over not becoming an IAS Officer, Shruthi took the extreme step.

A spinster, Shruthi had called her father over phone at about 7 pm yesterday and informed him that she was ending her life and sought his forgiveness before disconnecting the call.

Shocked father called her back immediately, but her phone was switched off following which he informed his relatives in Mandya.

Mandya Rural Police, who have registered a case, are investigating.

Dwindling Hindu population will lead to erosion of local civilisation, culture, says retired IAS officer

Mysuru, Aug. 7 (MK&DM)- Retired IAS Officer M. Madan Gopal observed that the rise in population of one religion and dwindling of another will lead to erosion of local civilisation.

He was speaking at an interaction on the topic ' Population imbalance and its impact on National Security' , organised by Manthana Mysuru in association with Janajagarana Trust at the Institution of Engineers on JLB road here on Saturday.

Maintaining that the decrease in habitation of aborigines which were in existence earlier had resulted in the erosion of ancient civilisation, Madan Gopal, who had served as the Additional Chief Secretary of Karnataka, cited the examples of countries such as Syria, Lebanon, Iraq and Iran.

Quoting the 1951 population census of India, Gopal said that while Muslim population at that time was 9.8 percent, it has risen to 16 percent as per the 2011 census and at the same time, the Hindu population has come down to 78 percent from 84 percent. Expressing concern over rising population of the country, the former IAS officer said said such a trend poses a threat to national security as ethnic violence may rise. Noting that population increase will also have an adverse impact on key sectors like education, employment and health, he said that infiltration from Bangladesh to India is continuing. "All the infiltrators are allowed to stay in the country by issuing them all types of ID cards. The effect of this can be seen in our arts, literature, culture etc., It will be no surprising if they even demand a separate country for them in a few decades. As such, the NRC (National Register of Citizens) should be implemented at all cost", he observed.

Manipur violence is not politically motivated

Asserting that the Manipur violence is not a politically motivated one, Gopal opined that the violence is due to population imbalance. Pointing out that the dominant Meitei Hindu population of Manipur has come down to 46 percent from 61 percent in a few decades, he said at the same time the population of tribal Kuki community (which practices Christianity) has risen to 32 percent from 17 percent. Though the Manipur violence, which is ethnic in nature, has been in existence for several years due to population imbalance of communities, the violence has scaled to new heights now, which has attracted national attention for the past three months, he maintained. Reiterating that the Manipur violence is not politically driven, he said it is ridiculous to blame Prime Minister Narendra Modi or the Manipur State Government for the ongoing violence, which is raging because of population imbalance and other local factors.

Former Kerala DGP M.N. Krishnamurthy in his address, said it is alarming to note that most of the infiltrators to the country are youths, the main cause of violence in the country.

Manthana,Mysuru convenor Padmavathi S. Bhat and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Outlandish

Pronunciation: out-LAN-dish.
Meaning: Outlandish describes things that are strikingly strange or unusual; in this use, it's a synonym of bizarre. Outlandish can also describe things, such as claims, rumors and accusations, that go beyond reasonable limits or standards.
Origin: For some, the grass isn't necessarily greener on the other side of the fence — it may also be very, very strange. The side-eye that skeptical sorts cast toward visitors from parts yonder is embedded in the history of the ancient word outlandish. In Old English someone described as "outlandish" came from an outland, i.e., a foreign land. Within a few hundred years, outlandish had broadened in use to describe anything unfamiliar or strange. It's now commonly applied to things — especially things people do, wear, or say —that are strikingly out of the ordinary, or even just too-too — that is, too far beyond reasonable or proper limits or standards. But lest you mistake us for equating outlandish with wrong or bad, heed the words of Tony Stark (as played by Robert Downey Jr. in Iron Man) when addressing speculation that he is secretly a superhero: "That would be outlandish... and fantastic."
Example: "The Derby is the horse racing equivalent of opening day, a spring festival for which all the sport's top owners and trainers put their best feet forward, thinking this might be their year. More even than the outlandish hats worn by patrons, optimism defines it." —Childs Walker, The Baltimore Sun, 7 May 2023.

THE ODD WORD

Ocellus

Small eye or eye-like coloured spot.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

On the ropes

Meaning: If someone is "on the ropes," it means they are in a desperate or difficult situation. In other words, they are having a tough time.
Origin: The phrase on the ropes possibly comes from boxing. How so? Well, boxers typically fight in a boxing ring, which is square in shape. Along the edges of the ring are ropes. Usually, a boxer doesn't want to be backed up against the ropes because it could impair their movement.
However, a boxer might take a heavy punch during a match that knocks them off balance. To help stabilize themselves, they might grab onto the ropes. Or, if they were knocked down by a punch, they might use the ropes to help them get back on their feet. Either way, a boxer that is literally on the ropes is probably in a bad spot. And that's what this saying means today — being in a difficult situation. Anyways, the earliest appearance of this saying was found in the year 1820. It's used in Blackwood's Magazine from this year as a boxing term: "At the close of one round, when Bill had got his adversary on the ropes, he went over him in a summerset, in a way that we do not not remember to have seen practiced either before or since."
